2. Work in the concentration camps is forced labor. Each group is given a certain norm of work to do; for example, they must dig so many cubic meters of earth. In each camp there are hog pens with 1,000 to 1,500 hogs, which the prisoners tend. Prisoners work every day except 1 May and 9 September; on those days they must go to the nearest village and participate in the public demonstrations. Some prisoners are assigned to the Black Companies whose work day is 16 hours long.
